Happy Belated All Hallow's Eve!

Last week was full of wonderful experiences for our Sea Turtles!

A couple of highlights worth mentioning, was our class outing to the KW Public Library and our school's celebration of Historical Halloween. I strongly believe that the children enjoyed their visit to the library. All the way from riding the trolley and telling silly Halloween jokes, to the games and activities Ms. Trisha played with them were all fun and engaging. At the end of our visit, the kids received their very own library cards and were highly excited to check-out some books.

Historical Halloween was a lovely and memorable experience. I loved seeing the creativity and best effort your children brought out in their scientific historical figures! At first, many of our friends were a bit nervous to present in front of our school community, but I am very proud of the entire class for supporting and encouraging one another - even if they didn't feel comfortable enough to speak into the microphone. Thank you to Griffin's mom, Sheila, for sending me the class photo (shared below)!
